ENGLISH SPORTING DOGS.

THE RENNEL CLUB FIELD TRIALS IN DEVON-SHIRE-"RANGER" AND HIS PROGENY THE REPORTED WINNERS.

A cable despatch was received in this city last evening, signed "Rev. John Cumming McDonaid, Cheadle Rectory," of which the following is a copy:-

My dog Ranger and his progeny won all the stakes at the Konnel Club Field Trials, held in Devonshire, April 15.

[Note .- The usual spring campaign to test the agnificent breeds of pointers and setters in England commenced on the 14th inst., under the patronage of the "Devon and Cornwall Field Trials," on the ground near Exeter, and was a meeting looked forward to with much interest by all sportsmen. Much of its importance depended on the exhibition and trial of the descendants of Mr. Laverack's famous setter sire, Old Dash, and those of Ranger's progeny, and, if the above report is trustworthy, victory rests with the latter. "Leatherhead," in Bell's Life, 3d inst., in discussing the subject says:-"The forte of the Laveracks, as proved by field trials, is great pace, wonderful style when they are down on their birds, and with all their pluck in being off from the heel and being half across a parish before you can say five. * * * If the young Rangers come out promising at the Devon trials, Shrewsbury and the Field Trial Derby it will prove that he is no chance dog, and ne will be a grand one to cross with the Laveracks."]

SALT LAKE CITY

SALT LAKE CITY, April 17, 1875. The flood in the valley of Bitter Creek, Wyoming Territory, is still reported on the increase. Three of the Union Pacific bringes are now reported gone, as also the road bed in many places. It is said nothing can be done toward repairing them till the water falls. This trouble extends for a distance of about ten miles. Four teams came tance of about ten miles. Four teams came through from Rock Springs to Green River station to-day having been chartered by some passengers to bring them over the nills. A freight train was expected to leave Ogden to-day, but was discontinued. A washout is reported this side of Green River. All mountain streams are rising on account of the rapidly meiting show, and there will probably be difficulties from this cause at other boints soon. There can be no time fixed for trains to commence running again, as that will depend on the weather, which is now quite warm, and there being an unusual amount of snow further damage is probable.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

OMAHA, Neb., April 17, 1875. The river here has failen ten inches in the last twenty-four hours. It is still impossible to teh to what extent the road bed on the Union Pacific wdamaged. The district is about 175 miles in length, but it is only at occasional places where length, but it is only at occasional places where any damage is done. The water has receded some to day. West-bound passengers who werelying at Rock Springs have been transferred to Green River by wagons and East-bound passengers rice eersa. CONCORD AND LEXINGTON.

THE BOSTON CELEBRATION-HANGING OF EIG-NAL LAMPS-PRESIDENT GRANT AND THE RECEPTION AT THE REVERE HOUSE-OF-FICIAL VISIT TO THE STATE HOUSE.

Boston, April 17, 1875.

The celebration of the great event at Lexington and Concord is appropriately to begin in this city to-morrow night, by the hanging of two lamps in the belfry of the old North church, in imitation of the signal lights hung a hundred years ago by Robert Newman for the guidance of Paul Revere. A son of the old sexton, who is now the sexton of the church, is to hang out the lights and what is, in modern Boston's way, make an address. There are to be so many addresses and orations and poems, however, that to enumerate them would be a task undertaken in sheer despair. The most that can be done is to tell a part of what hap pens when it comes to pass, for it is as difficult to gather the whole into a lump as it would have en to count the bullets on the day of Concord and Lexington. First of all there is General Grant, the guest of the State. This morning he began the day with a reception in the pariors of the Revere House. It lasted two hours and was numerously attended. Not much of interest occurred, but there was one neident that was worthy of mention. As the Presdent passed from one to another he chanced to meet Sergeant Plunkett, who lost both his arms in the war. Reaching out his hand for that of the Sergeant, he was met by the empty sleeve of the longest stump. General Grant was visibly affected, and he said, with much emotion, "I am glad to

THE VISIT TO THE STATE HOUSE. After the reception the next thing was the offctal visit to the State House, where the Presidenparty arrived about twelve o'clock, ttal and immediately proceeded to the rooms of the Executive Department, accompanied Legislative Committee on Reception. Senator Harwood, chairman, with His Excellency the President; Senator Edson, with Vice President Wilson; Representative Williams, accompanying Secretary Belknap; Mr. Tompkins, Secretary Robeson, Mr. Fitzgerald, Secretary Jewell, and Mr. Blunt, attending on Secretary Delano. The President was presented to the Governor by Senator Harwood, and the Cabinet of the United States and the staff of the Governor were then introduced to each other separately. Among the distinguished gentlemen present, in addition to the President and party, were Lieutenant Governor Knight, Chief Justice Gray and Associate Justices Devens, Weils, Endecott and Morton, of the Judiciary of Massachusetts; N. P. Banks. Charles F. Adams, Jr.; R. S. Frost, Collector Simmons and many others. After a half hour's stay in the Executive rooms the guests of the State proceeded to the Senate Chamber, and upon arrival there a recess was taken, President Loring performing the honors of introduction. The President and accompanying gentlemen then visited the House, where the proceedings were similar to those in the other legislative branch.

This afternoon the President and party visited the Massachusetts clubs, who dined at Young's Hotel, and subsequently dined with the Commercial Club at the Parker House. The President left the Revere House at nine o'clock this evening for Concord, being accompanied by Judge Hoar, who came here to receive him. General Grant will be Judge Hoar's guest during his stay in Concord.

BANQUET TO THE PRESIDENT.

Boston, Mass., April 17, 1875. The banquet at the Parker House, at half-past three P. M. to day, given by the Commercial Club in honor of President Grant and Cabinet, was a grand affair. President Grant, Secre taries Robeson, Beiknap, Fish, Delano and Postmaster General Jewell were present, and a number of local celebrities. The President leit for Concord at half-past eight o'clock by special train over the Lowell Railroad.

MARCUS L. DEAN, A PROMINENT CITIZEN. JUMPS INTO THE WHIRLPOOL-GREAT MENTAL DEPRESSION THE CAUSE.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 17, 1875.

This forenoon the people waiking or riding about the streets of Pawtucket, in this State, were startled by the report that a man had jumped from the bridge into the seething, foaming torrent below, and it was soon ascertained that it was a fact and that the unfertunate man was Marcus L. Dean, a prominent citizen of the place. The force of the current was such as to carry the body rapidly down the river to a point some disbody rapidly down the river to a point some distance below the wharf of Grant & Co., where the body was rescued by some men in a boat and conversed to the shore and thence to his residence. Promot medical assistance lailed to restore the vital spark that but a lew moments before was burning originity in the breast of a maniy and vigorous form. Mr. Dean was about fifty years of age and leaves a wife and only son to, mourn his awful ceath. Various rumors are adoat in regard to toe matter. It is more than probable that the deed was committed under heavy mental depression, he having during the last week, and for a longer period, too, shown signs of mental distress. The suicide of Mrs. Edmund Mason at Mr. Dean's shouse, on Thursday evening, may have been one of the causes which led to his depression of spirits. He was about his office this morning, giving directions to workmen, and after talking with an acquaintance a few moments he left him, and, walking down Main street, he proceeded to the bridge, and sprang over the railing into the whiripool below. The act was witnessen by one or two persons et a distance, and an alarm was immediately raised. It was not long before he was taken from the water, as stated above, but it is probable that he died or was rendered unconscious by the fail. Mr. Dean was known by nearly everybody in the place, having been in business for many years, and his tragic death has cast a gloom over the entire community. tance below the wharf of Grant & Co., where the

TRAGEDY IN CONNECTICUT.

A MURDER, A SUICIDE AND TWO PERSONS DAN-GEROUSLY INJURED.

NEW HAVEN, April 17, 1875. A terrible tragedy took place in the town of Collinsville, Conn., on the line of the New Haven and Northampton Railroad, last night, in which a Swede, named Austin Linburg, actuated by some personal grudge, attacked Andre Johnson, a Dane, and stabbed him with a cirk, causing a wound personal grudge, attacked Andre Jonnson, a Dane, and stabbed him with a dirk, causing a wound which will probably prove fatal. The afray took place in a liquor saloon, and a number of persons were present, all of whom were wronght lifto an excited state of mind. John Feller was one of these, and, rushing to the assistance of Jonnson, was himself set upon by the now frantic Limburg, and stabbed to death on the spot. Mrs. Feller, attracted by the noise made by the scuffling men, rushed into the saloon, and, discovering the danger her bushand was in, tried to assist him. She was stabbed several times in the hip by Linburg, the wounds which he inflicted being of a latar pature. Linburg, then gazing about upon the ferrible scenes with which he was surrounced, and as it with a desire to make them as no rible as possible, turned the dagger upon himself, indicting three or four night states. In the region of the heart, which, not proving effectual, with one desperate effort he drew Lee blade across his own throat, falling dead on the floor. News of this affair spread through the vinage very quickly, creating an excitement the like of which was never before seen in that usually quiet community. Crowds gathered at the scene of the double tragedy and the news flea far and wide. A coroner's jury was summone and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts. The survivors are still great sufferers, but everything possible is being done to sceare their better condition.

WASHINGTON.

GENERAL WASHINGTON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 17, 1875. INDIAN HOMESTRADS.

Commissioner Burdett, of the General Land Office, has issued a circular regarding Indian homesteads to registers.

It refers to the Indian Appropriation act, pass March 3, 1875, in which any Indian born in the United States, who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and who has abandoned, or may hereafter abandon, his tribal relations, shall, on making satisfactory proof of such abandonment under rules to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior, be entitled to the benefits of the Homestead act, under certain defined restrictions. The circular then quotes the following :-SECTION 16 .- That in all cases in which Indians

THE YELLOW FEVER.

Atlantic fleet, writes to the Navy Department under date of Port Royal, S. C., April 14, 1875, in regard to the health of the crews of the vessels attached to the fleet and the existence of yellow fever at Key West and Havana. He says it was remarked at Key West as well as at Havana that the wind constantly blew from the eastward, so that there had not been a single norther during the season when they are the most prevalent. The average temperature at Key West from December 1, 1874, to March 31, 1875, has been more than six degrees above the average of that season of the year. In all probability the good health of the squadron at Key West at all times for the past year may be attributed in a great measure to the strict sanitary regulations observed. Surgeon Suddards then speaks of the departure of the Colorado and Plymouth from Havana on the 29th of March upon learning that the yellow fever existed there, and their arrival at Key West, where a board consisting of Surgeon Adrian Hudson, of the Worcester; Acting Assistant Surgeon R. J. Perry, in charge of the medical stores at Key West, and Surgeon Suddards, investigated the circumstances attending the reported appearance of yellow lever there. They found that three deaths had occurred from yellow lever of the most pronounced character, while of several other cases the issue was still doubtful. During the few days that the fleet remained of Key West no new cases in town were reported. Surgeon Suddards says:-"All this time, however, a strong northeast wind had been blowing, cooling and purliying the air. When the hot weather returns, which may be expected from day to day, I very much lear a fresh outburst of disease. It now only remains to state the general probabilities of health and disease on this station during the coming summer. I have heard but one opinion expressed. Since early in the winter all the old residents of Key West with whom I came in contact invariably expressed themselves as fearful of a very sickly season. In Havana, too, I made a point of asking the opinion of almost every one I met on this point. It was the same. A general apprehension was telt, and even the most conservative were compelled to acknowledge their lears." In concluding his report he says:—"The increased temperature of the past winter being six degrees above the average, the undue prevalence of southerly and easterly winds and the absolute absence of northers during the whole winter, the general opinion existing among those who have nad best opportunities to observe and form a judgment and the actual appearance of vellow fever so early at Havana and Key West all com bine to layor the belief that any protracted stay of a large naval force at either of these places might have a most calamitous result, and would, therefore, be in the highest degree imprudent."

CONTINUED DISCONTENT AND DISTRUST IN THE WYOMING REGION-ALARMING DEMON-STRATIONS-BANNER INSCRIPTIONS-AN AT-TEMPT TO AROUSE NATIONAL PREJUDICES.

WILKESBARKE, Pa., April 17, 1875. While capital has succeeded in placing its heel opon the neck of labor in the middle coal field, and he operators hold the employés so still and quiet that things have become uninterestingly tame, the situation in the Wyoming region is growing exceedingly important it not decidedly grave. Efforts have been actively made during the present week to induce the miners to vote upon the question of returning to work at the reduction, but the scheme sailed, and those engaged in it, including W. H. Carroll, President of the Wilkes barre branch of the Miners' National Asso ciation, and Charles Parrish, President of the Lenigh and Wilkesbarre Company, got more or less into disgrace with the miners. The gentlemen alluded to were regarded as engineering the matter, and a very bitter leeling against them has been manifested in several of the local branches of the miners' organization from present indications. NATIONAL PREJUDICES.

It is feared that an attempt is to be made to increase the complications which involve the question between the combination of monopolists in coal and the miners by stirring up national ealousies and prejudices among the Irish and Welsh, who are pretty equally divided through-Fleet Surgeon James Suddards, of the North out the mining villages. In the northern part of Luzerne county this plan worked so successfully deleating the long strike of 1871 that it is a tempting trump card for the operators to play, and it seems now it is a tempting trump card for the operators to play, and it seems now to be in hand, poised and ready to fall upon any streng card that can be played by the miners. The result that is likely to follow must be far more disastrous than even a much longer prolongation of the present excitement. The effects of arousing the oaser passions of the Scranton miners four years ago, and then giving them a foundation of battonal batred and distrust to rest upon, are still felt here in business and politics, and it may never die out. It is sincerely to be trusted that the operators will not seek to still more intensity the feelings engendered in the dark days of '71.

This afternoon we have had an exhibition of the spirit of unrest which pervades this section, and which seeks vent in the only way that falls upon idle men. An immense oody of miners, numbering 2,000 men, from Warrior Run, Newport, Nauticoke and Sugar Notch, marched through the streets of the city. The deportment of the parade was civil, and there was nothing to find fault with, except the inscriptions on the banners, which expressed the feelings of the strikers in the following significant legends:—'If in union there is strength, the men of Sugar Notch have the strength of Samson;' "Ifaltors should be branded with the mark of Cain;" 'No surrender till hell freezes over, then we will crawl out from under the fee;' 'Our cause is just and we will win;' "While we've a crust of bread we'll not give in;' "Nothing but the Dasis of 184 for the waite legged boys of Warrior Run;', 'the cause of the oppressed is the watchword for action;' "We are piedged to profect the interests of our employers, in return we ask for justice." An effigy linctined "A house linckleg," dressed in the garb of a miner, was forne through toe streets, with a rope around his neck and was lastly caeered. At every corner a soldier was also lung in effigy and formed one of the retures of the procession—an addition that was in very bad taste. The demonstration was periectly success ut in point of

THE GOVERNOR AND THE CANAL RING.

THE BROOKLYN HUNDRED SUSTAIN MR. TILDEN. There was a special meeting of the Brooklyn Committee of One Hundred held in the directors' room of the Academy of Music last evening. Mr. Franklin Woodruff presided. The object of the meeting was announced by the Chairman as being for the purpose of considering the action of Gov. ernor Tilden in his war on the corrupt Canal Ring. Mr. Samuel McLean spoke in eulogistic terms in advocacy of the bold course taken by the Governor. Mr. Scott said if the Governor seeks a higher position by good deeds done in the nubbe interest so much the better, and it was the duty of the liundred to indorse him, irrespective of all partisan feeling. Mr. S. N. Davis spoke in the partisan leeling. Ar. S. N. Davis spoke in the same strain.

Colonel Robert Johnston moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft suitable resolutions indersing the Governor. Colonel Johnston, William Marshali and Frederick H. Schroeder were appointed to draft resolutions. Maror funter spoke briefly, and said that though Governor fitten units some of his own political friends, he helps the people of the whole State. Kings county is saddled with a canal debt deficiency, its share of the colonial standard of $6,000,000. Brooklyn taxation was neavy enough fore, but when the management of the State govern-ment is loose the burden falls mainly on the cities. He would, therefore, sustain Mr. Tilden with neart and soul in the work of reform. The special bills vacating assessments in Brooklyn will not succeed because of the firm stand His Excellency has taken.

The subjoined resolutions were adopted manimously:—

Resolved, That, irrespective of party, we regard the action of Governor rinden, in expossing what are known as the canal transk, with satisfaction, and call upon all members of the Legislature from this county to sussain bins in the battle he is now watering against corruption in high places. A committee was appointed to consider the pro-priety of holding a mass meeting at an early day in support of the action of the Governor.

THE COLLEGE OF MUSIC

THE RISTORY OF THE INCEPTION-WHAT THE FOUNDER'S PLANS ARE-CHARACTER OF THE GIFT.

Rumor has been busy of late in laying plans for the proposed New York College of Music, which have about as much truth to back them as rumors usually have. Since the pamphlet stating that a gentleman of this city was about to endow a college of music first appeared there has been nothing authoritative given to the public on the subject. The pamphiet referred to was crude and not altogether practicable. It was written with an object, and that object was accomplished. The generous donor, whose name is withheld for the present, for personal reasons, a well known merchant of this city, a bachelor and upward of eighty years of age. He has no very near relatives, and it has always been his pet wish to leave his wealth in the war it would do send his own name down to posterity in a pleasant connection. HOW THE IDEA ORIGINATED.

At first he thought of founding a hospital for consumptives, and told his plan to Dr. Elmer, his physician. Dr. Elmer thought it a good idea; but the old gentleman, on thinking the matter over, came to the conclusion that there would be others to do that, and perhaps sometaing more novel would do just as much good, though in a different way. Asam he took by, Eimer into his confidence and assed min to suggest something that had never been done before and would not be likely to be done again. The Doctor thought the matter over, but could not seem to hit upon the right thing. One night he was sitting at the opera and the thought flashed across his mind, why not an American College of Muse? He saw the oig gentleman the next day, and told his idea. "Give it to me on paper," said he, "that I may study it out." The Doctor did so, and the gentleman was so pleased with the idea that he massed upon naving a pamphlet issued, as feeler of the public pulse. If the people take to it, said as, i will give $5,000,000 to endow a college of music in this city. came to the conclusion that there would be others give $5,000,000 to endow a college of music in this city.

THE RESPONSE.

The public—that is, music loving people from all over the country—immediately responded and said that the milenomia nad come, interested and disinterested persons have expressed their approparion of the gentleman's liberality, and he has decided to give his maney as has been said. A charier was at one-drawing, and has passed the Senate and is now be one the Assembly. This charter allows the frustress to hold $2,000,000 worth of college property, and to have an income not exceeding $250,000. When the charier has passed the Board of Trustees will be chosen and organized. Who the Board will consist of is not shown as yet. Mr. Cornellus Vanceruit, Mr. W. B. Astor and Mr. Tillany are mentioned. Even this is mergy rumor. A faculty will then be selected from the best talent of Europe and America, and it is hoped to get the college in working order by next tall. The site for the permanent building has not been decided upon, although several places have been mentioned. In the meantime the school will go into temporary quarters,

NOT A MYTH.

The generous millisonnaire is not a myth, but is a bale and hearty old man, as the doubters will know before long. He is going to do, or has done, a noble thing by the public, and he deserves every braiss. People may speculate and gossip, and even put words into the mouth o the donor as nos already been done. The story that the institution was to be supported by concerts given by the pupils is one of the inse things that have got into print. Nothing is further from the truth. No plan of action has been decided upon at all.

URAGUAY.

A CONSPIRACY FOR THE ASSASSINATION OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS MINISTERS-CONSERVA-TIVE LEADERS ABRESTED AND DEPORTED FOR

MONTEVIDEO, March 2, 1875. Since the installation of the new government of Don Pedro Vareia, confidence has not been restored, and, although no overt act of revolution has occurred, a conspiracy has been discovered having for its end the poisoning or assassination of the Executive and his Ministers. SUMMARY ARRESTS.

Numerous arrests have been made, comprising some of the most infinential of the conservative party, fitteen of whom have been embarked on board the national bark Puig, for banishment to Havana.

NAMES OF LEADING EXILES. MAMES OF LEADING EXLES.

Among the number are several of our leading journalists, whose decided expressed opinions in times past relative to the Cuban cause, induced the resident Spanish Minister to advise the government that they would not be allowed to land at Havana, and it is generally thought that they may go to the States for an asylum. Toeir names are as follows:—

may go to the States for an asylum. Toeir names are as follows:—

Don José Pedro Ramirez, a prominent lawyer, journalist and ex representative; Don Aureliano B. Larrets, a prominent lawyer, journalist and ex-representative; Don Juan José de Herrera, a prominent lawyer, journalist and ex-representative; Colonel Forunato Flores, of the Uruguay army; Don Eduardo Flores, editor of the Idea; Don Ricardo Flores, sons of the late President, Dr. Vinancio Flores; commanier Carlos Gurmendez, of the Uruguay army; Don Ocavio Ramirez, of the Uruguay army; Don Candido Rovideo; Don Anselmo Dupont, Don Osvaido Rouriguez; Don Agustin de Vedea, ex-representative; Don Juan Ramoo Gomez, ex-Minister of Finance; Don Juno Herrera, and Obes, ex-minister of Foreign Relations.

AWAY FROM HOME AND COUNTRY.

The bark Puig sailed a lew days ago, and is provisioned for six months. She has been flued out as a man-ol-war, with a complement of thirty sailors and sixty soldiers, besides her officers.

saliors and sixty soldiers, besides her officers, FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES.

Monetary affairs have been made more complicated by the lailure of two of our most prominent banks (Maná and Navis) to convert their notes. These institutions were unable to withstand the run on them and closed their doors against the public, whom they notified by a placard that they would liquidate and pay every creditor. Since then the Judge of Commerce has appointed trustees and ordered a judicial liquidation.

SHINPLASTERS. SHINPLASTERS.

The new government emission of $3,000,000, consisting of $5, $1, fifty cent and twenty cent notes, has just commenced to be put in circulation. They were struck off by a French lithographer here, and consequently the printing is badly executed and the paper of a heavy and poor texture. Orders have been sent, with requisite designs, to the American National Back Note Company, to supply the bills of above denomination to substitute for those printed here.

Business in all its branches is completely paralyzed, and it is impossible to obtain money even with the best guarantees. Stocks of every description have fouched a lower point tann ever belore, and no confidence exists in our commercial community. OBITUARY.
